S. CHINA INVASION PLANNED, NO CONCRETE DEVELOPMENT

Large Concentration Of Troops At Formosa

Shanghai, October 5. LARGE BODIES OF JAPANESE TROOPS have been noticed being transported during the past few weeks from both Shanghai and Tsingtao. It is understood, according to usually reliable sources, to be concentrated at Formosa.

"Troop movements have unmistakably been noticed and since the troops have not come north, nor gone up the Yangtze, nor to Japan, all indications are that they have landed at Formosa," one highly placed foreign naval official informed Reuter.

It is further indicated, according to usually reliable foreign experts in close touch with naval and military affairs, that an invasion of South China is planned but nothing concrete has yet developed.—Reuter.

Hankow, Oct. 5. A dispatch from Shanghai states that the large concentration of more than 30 Japanese warships there during the height of the Euro-

DEVELOPMENT OF ANGLO-ITALIAN RELATIONS

IMPORTANT TALK BETWEEN LORD PERTH AND COUNT CIANO

Spain Armistice Suggested?

London, October 5. GREAT IMPORTANCE IS ATTACHED IN POLITICAL CIRCLES here to yesterday's conversation between Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and the British Ambassador in Rome, Lord Perth, which is considered to have particular significance in view of the future development of Anglo-Italian relations. The view generally prevails that satisfactory development of those relations will react favourably on the relations between France and Italy and, in this connection, great interest has been aroused here by the announcement of the forthcoming appointment of a French Ambassador to Rome.

It is pointed out that the new Ambassador will have the task of clarifying the Spanish problem and, after the coming into force of the Anglo-Italian Agreement, of preparing the way for Franco-Italian understanding. Political circles believe that the exchange of views now going on between London and Rome is mainly concerned with the Spanish question and that before long a certain number of Italian volunteers will be withdrawn.

Under these circumstances great importance is attached to the journey to Burgos of the Secretary of the Non-Intervention Committee. It is stated that the Soviet Government still declines to admit the usefulness of this journey while the Portuguese Government takes the opposite view.

Political circles take the view that following the withdrawal of Italian volunteers the British Government may endeavour to bring about an armistice as a prelude to peace negotiations. A proposal to divide Spain into two states and to establish a constitutional monarchy in Nationalist Spain is being tentatively put forward in certain quarters. It is, in any case, certain that the British

CZECHS' REPLY TO HUNGARY

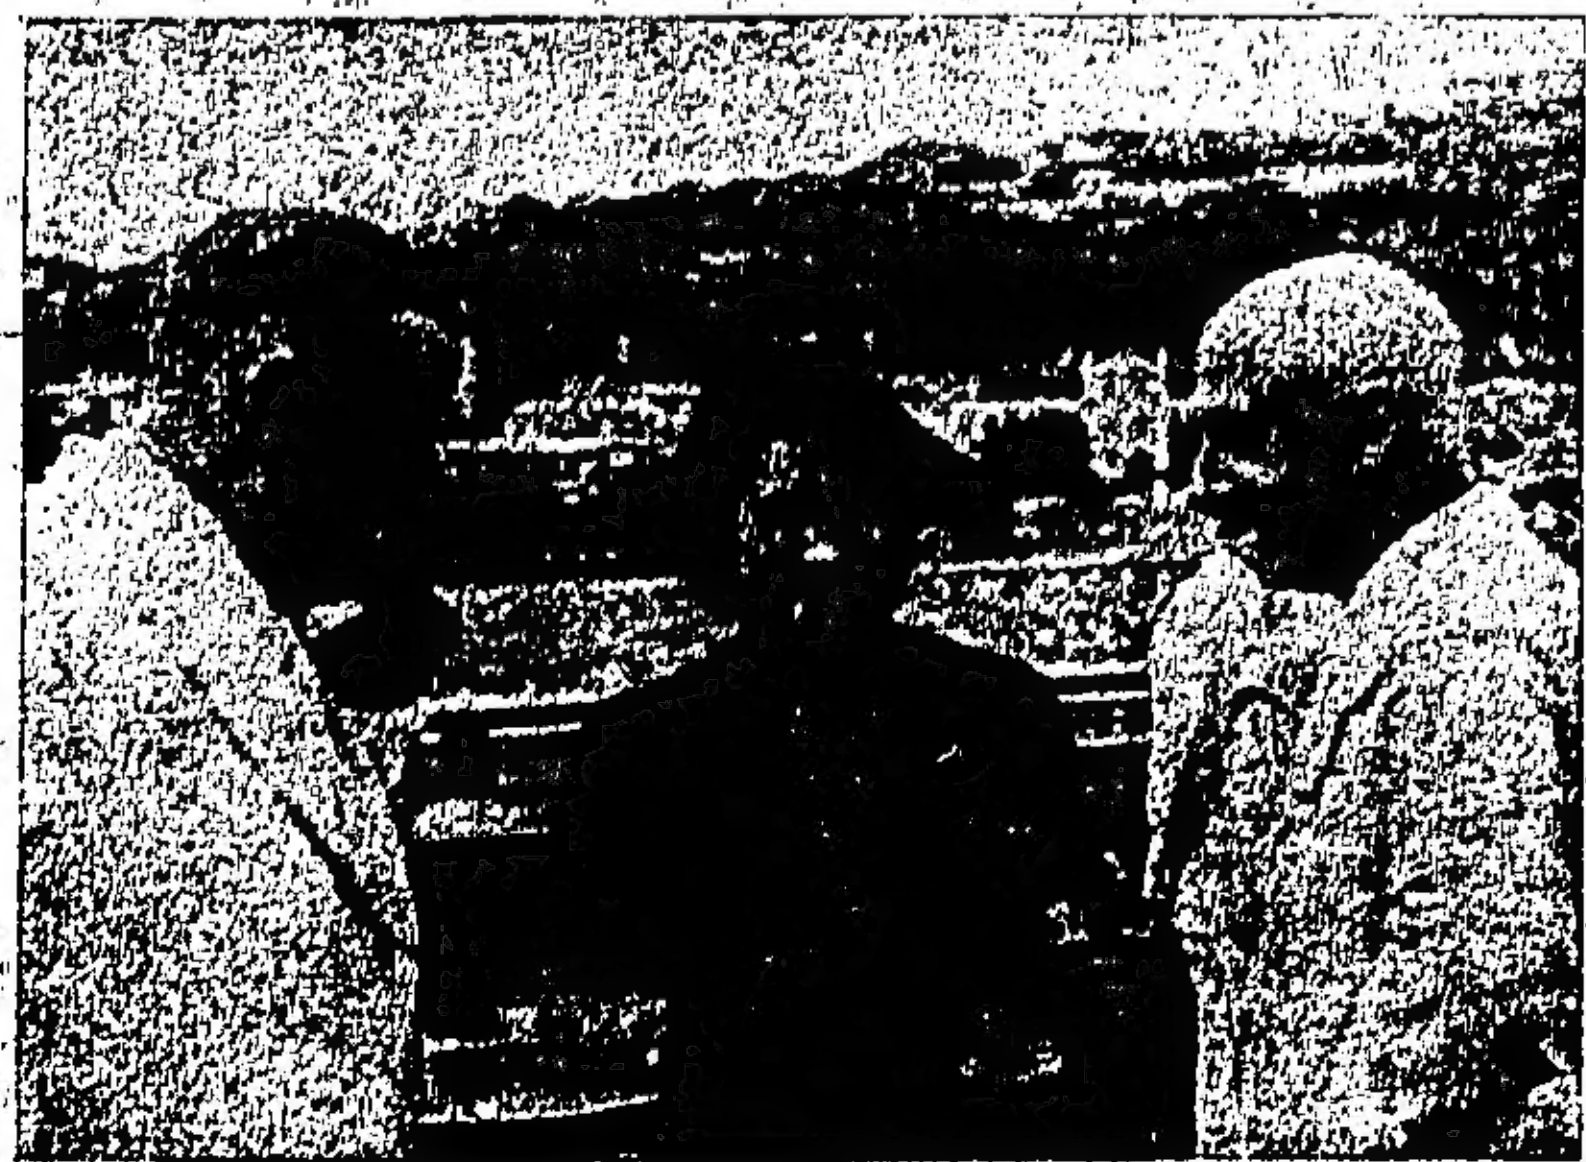

Budapest, Oct. 5. The Czechoslovak Government's reply to the Hungarian Note arrived here on Tuesday. It is stated to be in the affirmative and to convey intimation of acceptance of the Hungarian demands but no details are yet available.

Political circles here expect that symbolic occupation by Hungarian troops of two of the frontier towns mentioned in the Hungarian Note will take place on Thursday.—Transocean.

Government will make every effort to settle the Spanish question as rapidly as possible if only because this is an indispensable condition for giving effect to the Anglo-Italian Pact.

It is further stated in informed quarters that the conversation between Count Ciano and Lord Perth was concerned also with the problem of the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia and that the Hungarian claims are warmly supported by Italy.—Transocean.

Drain On Japanese Strength

Distribution Of Forces In North Honan

Loyang, Oct. 5. A continuous drain on the total Japanese strength in north Honan is indicated by the apparently inadequate garrison forces at a number of important cities which are being constantly harassed by Chinese guerrilla troops.

At many places, according to Chinese military reports, the Japanese forces guarding certain important points have been reduced to mere skeletons, exposing themselves to the danger of large scale Chinese counter-attacks.

As far as can be ascertained, the distribution of Japanese troops in north Honan is about 1,000 men at Sinsiang, 500 at Siuwu, 1,000 at Tsiatso, 2,000 at Po-al, 2,000 at Tsinnyang, 1,000 along the Tsin-yang-Tsiyuan highway, 1,000 along the Tsiyuan-Shao-yuan highway, and 1,000 in the vicinity of Shao-yuan. The total is only about 10,000.

Taking advantage of the depletion of Japanese troops from north Honan for the Yangtze, Chinese forces on the north bank of the Yellow River have made active preparations for a major offensive against the invaders.

Japanese troop movements, at the same time, are still being hampered by the disruption of railway traffic on the Po-al-Tsiatso section of the Taokow-Chinghua line with strong Chinese guerrilla units constantly working havoc with the track and roadbed.—Central News.

FIRM GERMAN DEMANDS

Hitch In Sudeten Negotiations

Berlin, Oct. 5. A hitch has occurred in the negotiations being conducted by the International Commission regarding the boundary of the Sudeten area to be handed over to the German army of occupation by October 10.

It is understood that it has hitherto been impossible to reach an agreement. The Germans are believed to have put forward their proposals in so firm a manner that negotiations have become extremely difficult.

There are numerous problems, particularly strategic, ethnological and economic to be considered in delimiting the Sudeten area in the little time that remains for negotiations.—Reuter.

DR. EDUARD BENES

DR. BENES RESIGNS

POSITION GRAVELY COMPROMISED

PRAGUE, OCT. 5. DR. EDUARD BENES, PRESIDENT OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA, HAS RESIGNED.

Becoming Minister of Foreign Affairs at the early age of 33 while the late Dr. Thomas Masaryk was President, Dr. Benes succeeded to the Presidency in December 1935 at the death of Masaryk.

Dr. Benes, who is now 54, worked closely with Masaryk to found the Czech Republic. Born of Bohemian peasant stock, he was educated at various European universities and became a very influential writer on political and economic questions.

Loyally devoted to preserving the integrity of Czechoslovakia, Dr. Benes' position has been gravely compromised by recent events, and this early denouement, in the circumstances, is not considered surprising.—Reuter and Special.

WUHAN TRI-CITY LIKE CAGE, STATES KWANGSI COMMANDER

Trap For Japanese Armies

Defenders' Improved Strategy

Hankow, October 5. "The Wuhan tri-city area is like a cage. Though the Japanese may penetrate into the area, we shall be able to trap and annihilate them," declared General Li Tsung-jen, Commander-in-Chief of the Fifth Route (Kwangsi) Army and Field Commander of the Fifth War Area, in an interview with the Wuhan "comfort" delegation at an undisclosed point on the north Yangtze front yesterday.

Describing the situation on both banks of the Yangtze River, the hero of the Talerchwang battle stated that the Chinese position was "in general, steady." He added that though the Chinese had abandoned a few points, this had been done after exacting a big price from the Japanese which is the aim of the war of attrition.

Contrasting the defence of the Wuhan area with that of Hsuehchow, General Li pointed out several differences. First, the topography of the Wuhan area is even more favourable for defence than that around Hsuehchow. This, in his opinion, largely accounts for the alleged frequent use of poison gas by the Japanese when they failed to dislodge the Chinese after exhaustive onslaughts.

Chungking Populace Given Another Air Raid Scare

TWO JAPANESE BOMBERS SHOT IN EAST SZECHUEN BATTLE

Chungking, October 5. After the excitement and panic of yesterday, when nine Japanese planes visited the capital and bombed the military aerodrome, the populace was given another scare at noon to-day, when the air raid alarm sent everyone scurrying for the dug-outs.

No Japanese aircraft arrived, however, the 18 raiders which were seen passing over Ichang in the morning having turned back when about 50 miles to the west of that fort.

Fearing further raids the Chinese Government, according to an announcement in the Chinese press, has completed plans for the evacuation of part of the populace from the city.

Gendarmes and police will make house to house enquiries concerning the occupation of the tenants, and those without jobs will be requested to move out within a week and will be compelled to do so, if necessary.

BOMBERS SHOT DOWN. Two of the Japanese bombers which participated in the raid on Chungking yesterday were shot down in an aerial battle in East Szechuen, Chinese press reports claim.

The bombers were said to have been intercepted on their return from Chungking by Chinese pursuers.

Seventy Japanese circles around Hankow yesterday morning apparently for the purpose of intercepting the Chinese machines which have been bombing Japanese troops' concentrations to the west of Loehai. The Chinese aircraft, however, did not return to Hankow, but made for some other base.—Reuter.

Court Sequel To Assault

Appearing in defence of three workmen of the Chung Wah Printing Press, all natives of Shanghai charged with assault of Tsing Yung-ming, outside the north gate of Chun Wah Co. Factory, on the afternoon of September 12, Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ claimed that the assault had been provoked by an incident on the day before when Tsing's brother, Tsing Ching-ming, is alleged to have offered unwanted advice to Chau Chi-chu, one of the three defendants, in a mahjong game.

Tsung, Mr. Russ alleged, had told Chau what card to play. Chau had resented this unwanted advice. He had rebuked Tsung, who had slapped him in retaliation.

"So you just slapped his face to teach him proper manners?" Mr. Russ asked Tsing Ching-ming, a witness for the prosecution.

STAPLES SURPRISES

Grapefruit Adds Glamour To New Salad Mixtures

The tang and flavour of Sunkist grapefruit, Western grown, make this fresh fruit an important salad addition, while the delicate and appetizing flavour of its juice ranks it as a delightful salad dressing ingredient.

Many a glamorous salad can be made from grapefruit. Try these recipes and see how they add to your meal and to the beauty of your table.

TO PREPARE GRAPEFRUIT

Sunkist grapefruit has a firm, juice-retaining meat, practically free from seeds and easy to prepare in the fresh segments, which give distinctive flavour to dishes made with it.

Segments—With a sharp knife, peel down to juicy meat, removing all outer skin and membrane. Cut on either side of each dividing membrane and remove meat, segment by segment.

Pieces—When segments are too large for recipe, cut them into pieces.

Note—Save any escaping juice and use for salad dressings and marinades.

GRAPEFRUIT FRENCH DRESSING

4 tablespoons grapefruit juice
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon paprika
Stir or shake well before serving. If a sweet dressing is desired add 1 cup red jelly.

CALIFORNIA WALDORF SALAD

(Serves 4-6)
4 grapefruit
4 teaspoons sugar
1 cup broken walnut meats
2 cups diced apples
1 cup diced celery
1 cup shredded dates or raisins
Segment grapefruit and cut in pieces. Save juice and marinate apples. Sprinkle apples with sugar. Combine ingredients. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

GRAPEFRUIT COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

In a crisp lettuce cup placed at back of salad plate, pile 1 cup cottage cheese. Garnish with sprinkling of paprika and stuffed olive slices.

At front of plate arrange a semi-circle of 8 grapefruit segments, alternating with slices of avocado. Serve with any desired dressing.

GRAPEFRUIT BANANA SALAD

On a banana cut lengthwise, arrange 4 or 5 grapefruit segments, alternating these with wedges cut from firm but ripe orange, pear or avocado. Garnish with romaine. Serve with grapefruit mayonnaise or grapefruit French dressing.

GRAPEFRUIT AND MIXED GREENS

(Serves 6)
1 cup grapefruit segments
1 cup romaine (or watercress)
1 cup diced celery
1 cup chicory
1 cup lettuce
1 doz. unpeeled radishes, sliced
Cut salad greens in pieces. Combine ingredients. Marinate with a mixture of 1 cup grapefruit French dressing and 2 tablespoons catsup. If desired, add 1 teaspoon celery seed.

GRAPEFRUIT SEA FOOD SALAD

2 cups grapefruit pieces
1 cup diced celery
1 cup grapefruit French dressing
2 cups flaked, cooked fish (lobster, crab, salmon or tuna)
Combine and serve on lettuce with additional dressing of mayonnaise. Serves 6 to 8.

GRAPEFRUIT SALAD BOWL

2 cups grapefruit segments
1 cup unpeeled red apple, sliced
1 cup seedless grapes
1 cup orange segments
1 cup strawberry slices (or other fruit)
Serve with grapefruit mayonnaise.

GRAPEFRUIT MAYONNAISE

1 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup mayonnaise
Blend thoroughly with 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar.

GRAPEFRUIT ON AVOCADO

Cut ripe avocado lengthwise. Separate halves and remove seed. Fill avocado half with 6 or 7 grapefruit segments and garnish with sprigs of mint. Serve with grapefruit French dressing.

Stuffed Fish Steaks

2 pounds salmon steak
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons fat
Select two steaks cut about half an inch thick. Wipe off with a damp cloth and sprinkle with flour, salt, paprika and celery salt. Spread with butter and brown well in the fat which has been melted in a frying pan. Cover and cook fish for 15 minutes or until it is well browned on both sides and very tender when tested.

STUFFING

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 cups boiled rice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
Mix together all the ingredients. Heat slowly and cook until hot.

Prawns Make "Party" Dishes

Prawns have ceased to be the luxury, and now represent a profitable purchase, for they can be used in a variety of dishes, very good to look upon and still better to eat!

For a supper or light luncheon dish (Prawn Aspic) is hard to beat. A hard-boiled egg, cut into slices and arranged in the bottom of the mould before the shelled prawns are added gives a nice touch of colour. When pouring in the dissolved aspic jelly the packet preparations are reliable—be careful that only sufficient is allowed to cover the top layer of prawns, otherwise there will be excess of jelly, which will spoil the appearance of the dish.

COCOANUT CUSTARD PIE

6 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups Carnation Milk diluted with
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 tsp. vanilla

Petits Fours

Sole Duglere—Allow a small sole for each person. Butter a baking tin; add a slice of onion finely chopped, a tomato peeled and seeds removed, seasoning, the soles, two tablespoonsful of sherry and the same quantity of water.

Cook in oven for 20 minutes; then remove the fish and reduce liquid at half its quantity. Add to this a piece of butter the size of an egg and two tablespoonsful of cream. Stir all the time.

Serve the soles on a hot dish with the sauce poured over; garnish with chopped parsley. Chicken Maryland—Divide a small chicken into four joints. Beat an egg with a teaspoonful of salad oil, salt, pepper, chopped parsley and thyme. Dip the pieces of chicken first into this, then into breadcrumbs and fry in boiling hot butter for nearly 30 minutes.

Garnish with pieces of split banana also fried in butter and sweet corn fritters.

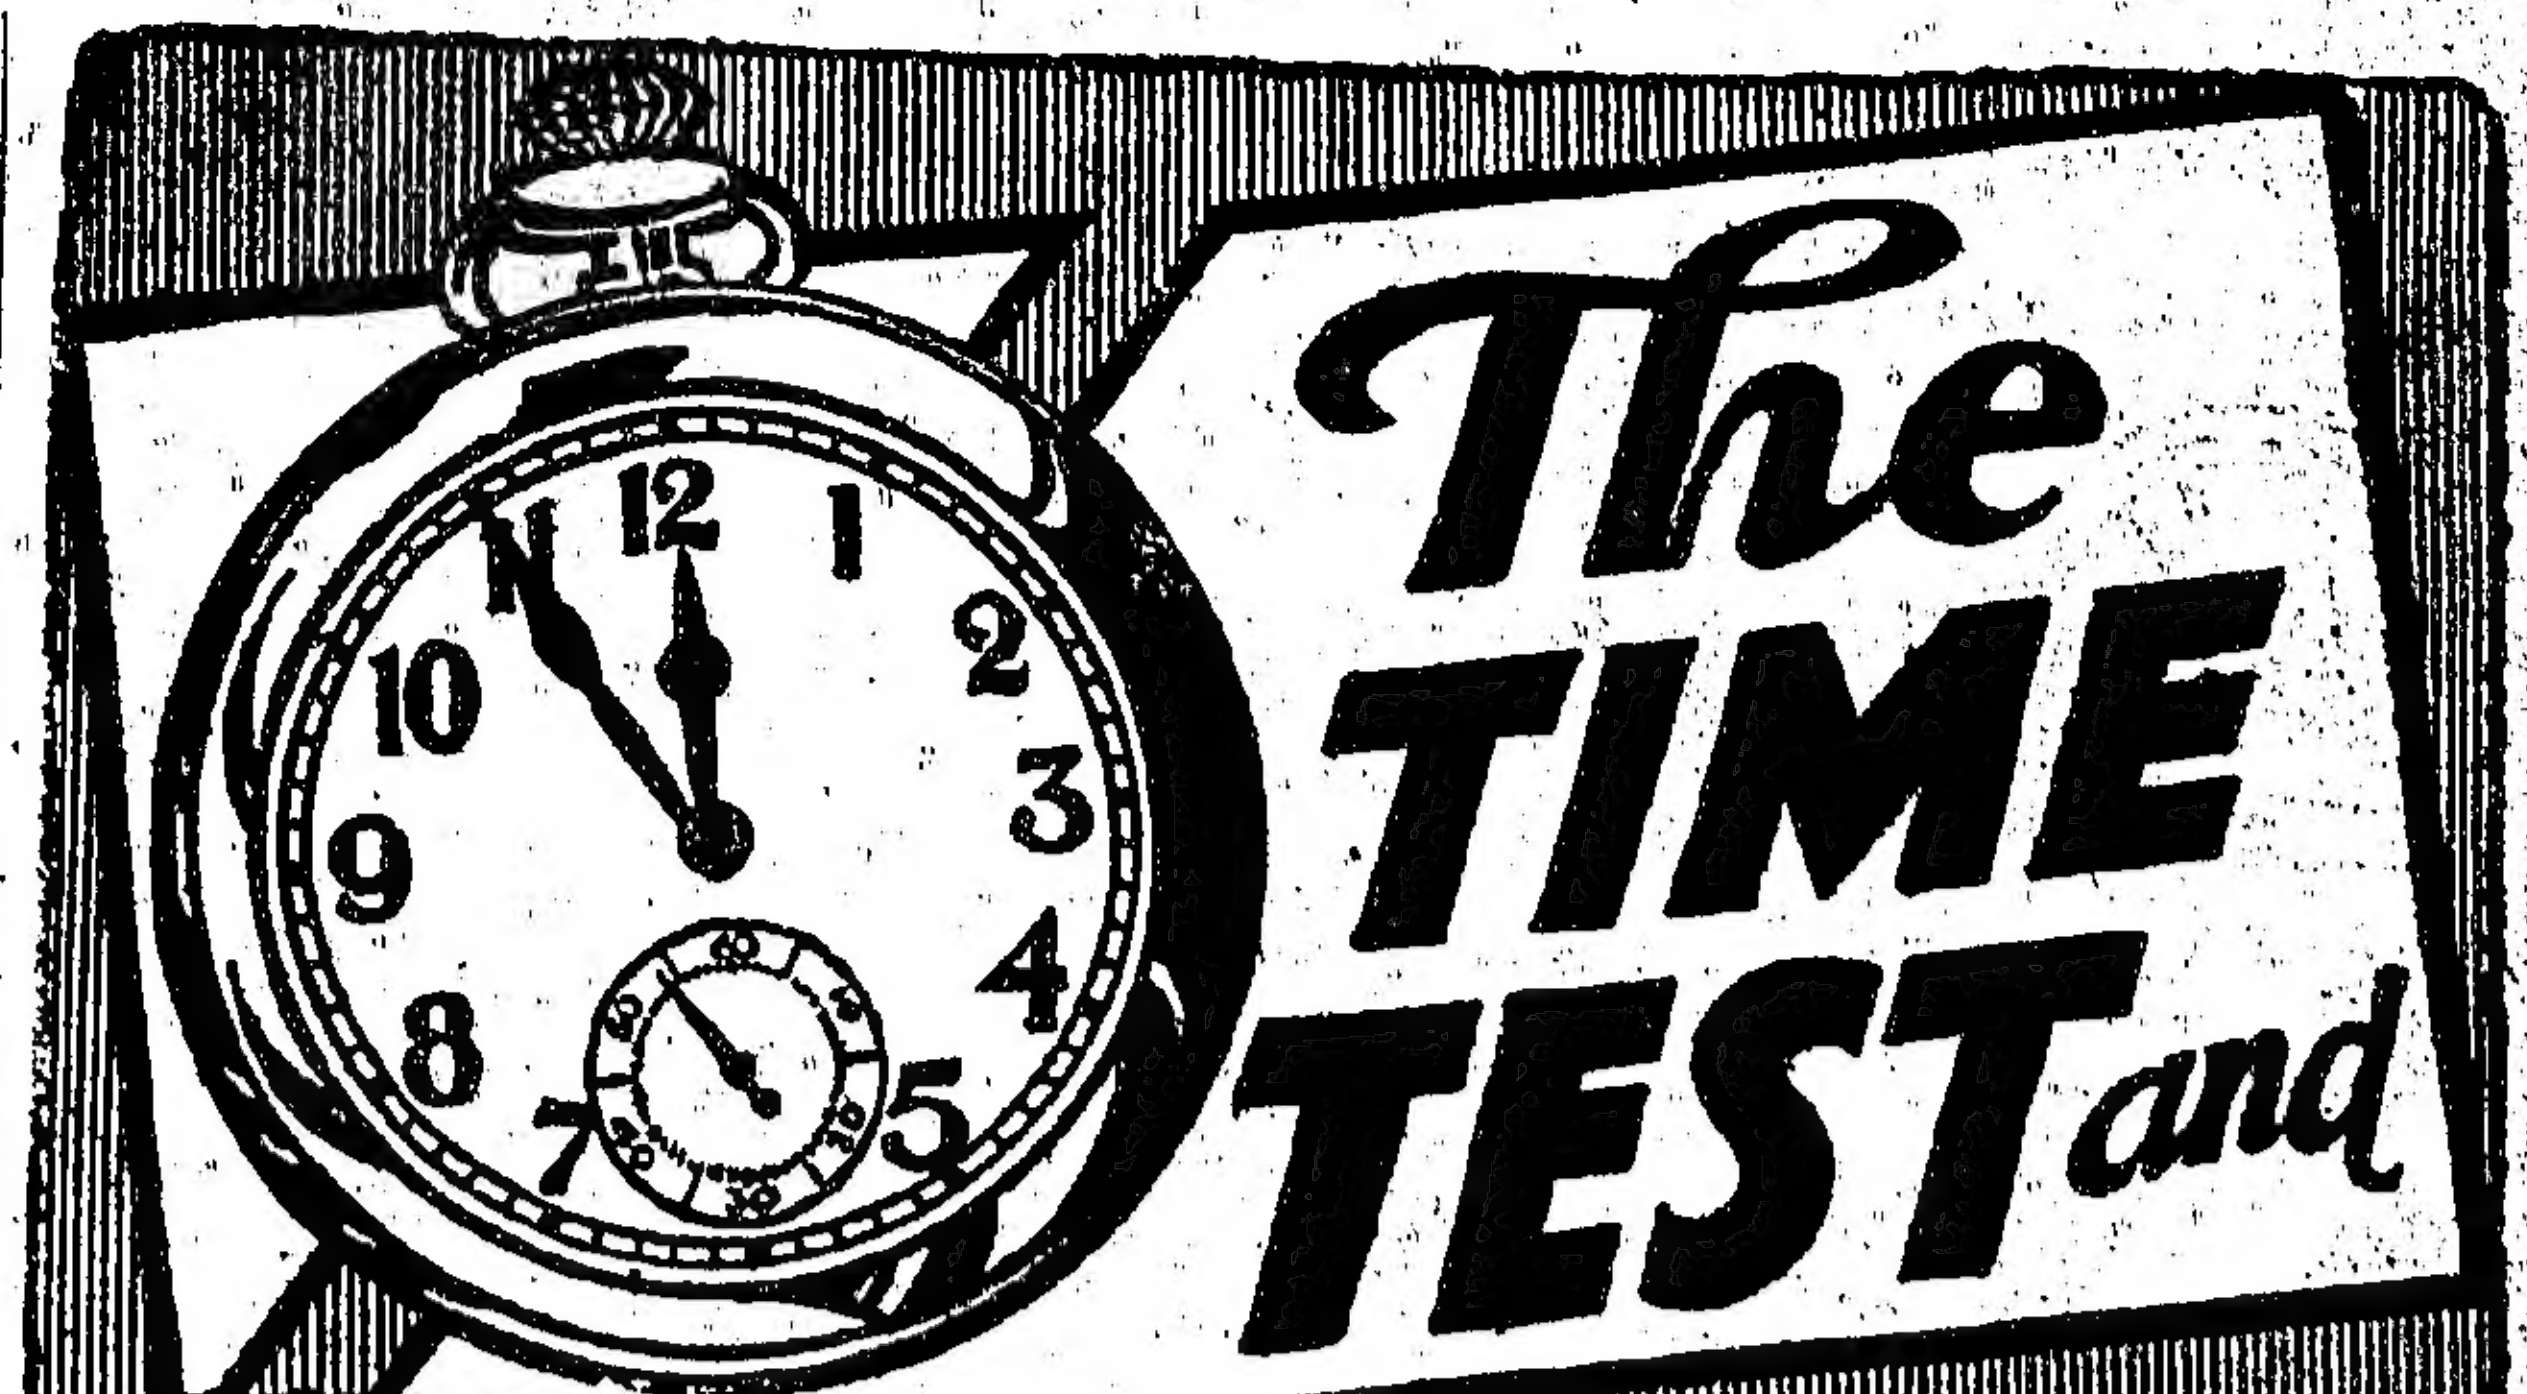

The fritters are made with canned corn as follows: Take one egg, half-a-cupful of milk, salt, pepper, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of butter and the same of baking powder.

Mix the corn, seasoning, well-beaten egg, then the butter, milk and flour. When smooth add the baking powder and fry by the spoonful in plenty of boiling fat. Do not add the baking powder till the fat is boiling.

Preserved Ginger Ice—Take 1 1/2 pints of sweetened custard, 1 pint cream, 3oz preserved ginger, two tablespoonsful of ginger syrup. Dice the ginger and add it with the syrup to the custard. Add stiffly-whipped cream.

Stir occasionally and when cold place in freezer. Serve in glasses and top each one with sliced ginger.

'ASPRO'

THE old idea that a dozen medicines were needed for a dozen complaints—that laying up for indefinite periods was necessary—that it was also necessary to take dangerous drugs and narcotics—was an illusion. 'ASPRO' has dispelled it. For it is the medicine that takes the place of a dozen medicines, because, after ingestion in the system, it is an internal antiseptic—an anti-pyretic or fever reducer—an anti-periodic—a powerful germicide, and a solvent of Uric Acid, and, therefore, banishes the causes of numerous complaints. That's why ASPRO banishes headaches in five minutes. It's the time test for quick action, and it stands the test of time. 'ASPRO' soothes the irritable—brings sweet sleep to the sleepless—relieves rheumatism in one night—smashes colds and influenza at inception. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' does not harm the heart or the stomach. It can be taken by all, from child to parent, anywhere, any time. The price is within the reach of all.

Dear Sir,
I give you great pleasure in passing these lines of appreciation for the wonderful benefit I have derived through taking your ASPRO Tablets. I have been for some time a sufferer from Neuralgia and Rheumatism, and have tried various remedies, but with-out any beneficial results. I was advised by a friend to try 'ASPRO', which advice I took, with remarkable results. After taking six tablets, my Neuralgia disappeared. I continued taking two more every meal, and can now take my usual exercise without any pain. You will, therefore, quite understand the pleasure I derive in recommending such a wonderfully simple medicine to other sufferers.

Yours faithfully,
GEO. FRANK AUSTIN.

Those Touches Of White Look So Smart

Very few women are suited by outfit of one sombre colour—such as black, dark navy, grey, brown, or white. To be really effective, they should be worn unrelieved only by owners of flatteringly rood complexions and definitely blonde, red, or very dark hair.

That's why "touches of white" are usually so smart and always popular. When they do fail to be smart it is because they have been indiscriminately used, and have become "blobs" rather than artistic "touches."

DISCREET TRIMMINGS

Occasionally one sees quite a smart frock so overloaded with them that the observer gets the idea that its owner feels that if a little white finishing a dark frock is attractive, then lots of snowy trimmings will be even more so. Actually the more sparingly you are with your white, and the more care you take in choosing just where to place it, the better the effect.

FOR SPECIAL EVENTS

Real white flowers, such as carnations, camellias, and roses worn in the lapel of a tailored suit look charming, and if you have the luck to be of the type that can wear them for a few hours without having them wilt, are much preferable to artificial ones, but they're inclined to become rather an expensive hobby, and, therefore, to be worn for special occasions only.

Fortunate are those who own gardens, and can thus often decorate themselves with a single white flower or a posy of tiny ones. Older women, as a rule, find frilly jabots and lace collars more becoming than the plainer type of pique neckwear so becoming to a young face. White belts should only be worn by slim women, and white shoes and gloves are not for owners of hands and feet that are over the average in size.

Attention given to this little matter will be amply repaid with smarter and more becoming results.

The Japanese recently built a hangar on Sancho Island. On September 27, many boats along the sea coast were attacked by the Japanese planes' machine-guns.

DANCE MASTERS TAKEN TO TASK

Fox-trots And Tango May Eclipse Russian Culture

Latest to be taken to task by the ever-vigilant eyes of "Good Communists" are the dancing-masters.

Nadia Stepanenko, a university student, recently lodged a complaint with the authorities stating that it was no longer possible to learn "the good old Russian dances" because dancing-teachers ignored them giving preference to fox-trots, tangos and rhumbas.

The "Leningradskaya Pravda" commenting on the subject, warmly supported Nadia Stepanenko's attitude and asserted that "it is not by chance that the directors of certain institutions despise Russian dances."

"Behind this effort to implant foreign dances can often be discovered the desire of enemies of the people to lower the standard of Russian culture and inspire in youth a false attitude towards popular creations. Such is the subtle and masked activity of

LEAGUE TOOK THE VITAMINS

Natives of Nauru, an island of Polynesia (Southern Pacific), used to manufacture an alcoholic drink from yeast which everyone drank, from the youngest to the oldest, and everyone was extremely healthy.

After the war the natives were given new masters—the League of Nations—one of whose first acts was to stop this "appalling" habit of taking alcoholic drink.

Immediately the dread disease beri-beri broke out—because the yeast drink was the natives' only way of obtaining vitamin-B, which was antagonistic to beri-beri.

When the League realised what had happened the ban was withdrawn, and the natives were allowed to distil their yeast drink again—but had to drink it almost immediately, so that it would not be so stimulating.

This story was told at a London meeting recently by Dr. Charles S. D. Don, of Manchester.

these subversive elements." The paper then states that the heads of dancing clubs or schools are often uncultured, ignorant individuals or even "shady, suspicious elements."

NEW CAPITAL OF NEW GUINEA

Objections to the choice of Salamaua as the site for the new capital of the Mandated Territory of New Guinea were made recently by Mr. Fairbairn, M.H.R., in an interview with the Minister in Charge of Territories (Mr. Hughes).

Mr. Fairbairn recently visited New Guinea in his plane, where he learned that residents and officials were opposed to the selection of Salamaua, which they deemed unsuitable as the site for a capital.

Before leaving Melbourne recently for Sydney Mr. Hughes said that he would refer the question again to the Federal Cabinet.

It is felt in political circles that the Cabinet may reverse its decision, and that there is every prospect of Lae being chosen. Such a choice was recommended by a special committee after investigating the suitability of proposed sites.

COMING-OF-AGE PARTY

Miss Gloria Yee Entertains

(BY "ROSETTE")

Miss Gloria Yee, charming daughter of Mrs. Pauline Yee, gave a tea party to over fifty guests at the Gloucester Hotel yesterday afternoon to celebrate her coming-of-age.

The Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan gave a short speech congratulating her on behalf of the guests and also offered a toast to her future happiness and freedom to which all present joined in heartily.

Miss Yee suitably replied in a few words, thanking them for their good wishes and presence.

Miss Yee looked most enchanting in her pale blue printed satin gown as she rose to blow out the candles of her birthday cake. Her charming mother, sister-in-law, Lucy, and her two brothers David and Jimmy, flitted most energetically about the room in their efforts to entertain everybody.

Miss Yeung Sau-king, the famous local swimmer, who had just come back from a tour of the South, looked cool and refreshing and as beautiful as ever in a white shark skin suit.

Among those present were: Hon. Dr. and Mrs. Li Shu-fan, Mrs. Li Shu-pui, Mr. and Mrs. Chow Yat-kwong, Mrs. Nancy Gock, Mr. and Mrs. George Wu, Mr. and Mrs. James Choa, Mr. Arthur Choa, Misses Ruby and Amy Choa, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Chan, Mrs. Ma, Miss Rita Randall, Dr. Edward Sun, Misses Irene Lee, Bella Ma, Priscilla and Pat Ho, Marie Wong, Norah Kew, Messrs. Queen Elizabeth Selects Her Autumn Dresses

Queen Elizabeth is essentially a woman. About a fortnight ago, she saw the latest fashions for autumn while the European crisis brewed.

Mannequins went to Buckingham Palace and paraded before Her Majesty in a large room on the second floor. They showed the Queen an entire autumn collection.

For immediate wear, the Queen chose black. Extremely smart day ensembles chosen were trimmed with flat fur, such as astrakhan, and the skirts were considerably shorter than in the summer.

The new high hats appealed to the Queen. She will probably be seen this autumn in the high tricorn, one of the styles that particularly suit her.

ROUND ABOUT

Departure Of A Ship

An evening sailing! People in vivid garb and "gay spirits" are pulling and climbing up the gangway to a large ship ablaze with lights. The decks are crowded with laughing, chattering men and women.

Flower baskets, uncountable, surround a busy purser's office. Coolies with luggage panting for breath, push through crowds. A customer harangues a steward about his cabin. Office boys posting last-minute letters. Steamship company's agents scurrying about, mentally wishing the boat well out at sea and they home in a comfortable chair and quiet atmosphere.

Above-deck social rooms, aflame with light, are filled with the rumble and roar of talk and laughter. Cocktail room and bar are backgrounds for parties of two to twenty. Ice tinkles in glasses; corks pop from the necks of bottles; white foam atop amber fluid rolls slowly over rims of glasses—while friends and acquaintances toast and are toasted.

ALL ASHORE!

A white-coated, black-trousered cabin boy goes by banging the gong which means "All ashore who are going ashore." People from different directions begin to concentrate on one point—top of the gangway. Hugs, kisses, handshakes, pats and tears.

An attractive tall lady at the ship's rail watches friends on the pier. A gentleman with extra dignity, placing each foot carefully on the deck, approaches the lady.

"Pardon me, are you sailing?" Receiving an answer in the affirmative, he politely puts his arm about her and bids farewell with a kiss.

"I have seen you for months and have always wanted to kiss you—bon voyage!" Turning, the young man slowly descends the gangway into the night.

DON'T BE OVERWEIGHT

Well! the fashion secrets for the Winter are secrets no longer. We know just what kind of clothes we are going to wear.

Short skirts for day wear will reveal calves of legs; so you cannot keep up with fashion if your legs and ankles are thick and ungainly. And there must be no "spare tyre" round the waist, as frocks and suits all accentuate slenderness there.

Successful Macao Racing Despite Small Crowd

Despite the smallest crowd to attend a local race meeting this year, the October programme of the Macao Jockey Club was successfully run off at Areia Preta last Sunday, with smart riding and fast times marking some of the events.

Owing to the murky state of the weather a heavy ground prevailed, but this handicap was relieved by the fact that several of the starters displayed great energy.

The absence of many local and Hongkong racing fans was noticed; this was perhaps chiefly due to the threatened typhoon. The administration was also marked by the continued absence of Mr. F. J. Geillon, popular chairman of the Macao Jockey Club, who is still recuperating from his illness.

Among the early visitors at the course were Mr. Jack Braga, doing Judge's duty in Mr. Geillon's absence, and "Pa" Mello, local shipping agent. They were joined by Mr. H. S. C. McComb, of the Macao Waterworks Company, who, after a brief chat, went off to join Pan-American's Mr. C. Barnes at the rail stand.

STUDYING FORMS

Mr. Luciano Martins, Postmaster General, strolled on the lawn with a friend, while elsewhere Mr. A. Heyne, a German resident, was busily studying racing forms and watching the parade at the paddock.

Lt.-Col. A. Azev, Macao's new Colonial Secretary, came in soon after the end of the first race and joined Brig. Gen. Temudo de Vera, of the Banco Nacional Ultramarino, at the rail stand.

Mr. Luis Nolasco, prominent Macao lawyer, watched the events from the grandstand. He was accompanied by Mrs. Nolasco and their two young daughters.

Mr. C. H. Davies, of the Chinese Maritime Customs at Lappa, was consulting Mrs. Davies over the selections and keeping an eye open for any good outsider.

Before the third saddling bell, Mrs. C. Barnes, with little daughter Jenny, joined her husband. The Barnes family was accompanied by Miss Amalia Nolasco. They were later stopped and engaged in conversation by Mr. Leong Hau-un, local Chinese representative.

PORTUGUESE GROUP

A strong Portuguese group was formed by Mr. Luciano Martins, Lt. Pedro de Costa (A.D.C. to H. E. the Governor), Mr. V. Pinheiro, Lt. Carvalho and Mr. Vilhena.

Mrs. H. S. C. McComb was a late-comer but she joined her husband and put heads together in combining the lists for possible winners.

Naval representation was lent by Capt. J. C. Coelho, Jr., commander of the Portuguese sloop N.R.P. Goncalves Zarco, who was accompanied by a few of his officers. They were later joined by Lt. Trinidad and Lt. Paulino, of the N.R.P. Goncalves Velho—Our Own Correspondent.

HONGKONG, OCTOBER 6, 1938.

HONOURS EVEN

AN OMINOUS WARNING was uttered by Mr. Herbert Morrison, one of the leading figures in the British Labour Party, during the debate on the foreign policy of the Chamberlain Government in the House of Commons.

As was to have been expected, the debate was of a most vigorous nature and the Opposition brought out some fine points in its attack which the Government has had no easy time in answering. So far, the fight has been fairly even, with points slightly in favour of Mr. Chamberlain and his associates.

In his attack, Mr. Morrison, for the Opposition, suggested that the Ministers were under the illusion that the electorate, relieved as it was by the avoidance of war, would be prepared to accept what had happened without asking some searching questions. His own case was that, by the policy of weakening the moral authority of the League of Nations and destroying the faith of small states in the collective system of security and by the attitude of political discrimination against Soviet Russia, they had brought Great Britain into a position of greater danger. The Government, added Mr. Morrison, had, as a final step in this mistaken policy, acquiesced in weakening Czechoslovakia and in augmenting Germany's military strength by 400,000 fully trained men and 225,000,000 worth of armaments, including the great Maginot Line.

MR. MORRISON further argued that the Prime Minister's insistence on the need for not relaxing the programme of rearmament showed that he was not satisfied that his policy would bring about peace. Britain must join other countries in the collective organization of world peace or continue submission to blackmail, he added. In his opinion, the Czechs have been betrayed and the $10,000,000 loan which Mr. Chamberlain had promised was the most conclusive evidence that the Government had felt some dishonour.

The Government was ably defended by Dr. E. Leslie Burgin and Earl Baldwin, the latter making his maiden speech in the House of Lords on the international situation. Both were loud in their praise of the Prime Minister.

The first of many miracles performed by one REASON FOR M. TRIUMPHS and "Reason" had triumphed over force" were the main points of Dr. Burgin's address.

Earl Baldwin, pointing out that Britain, owed Mr. Chamberlain much, said that one of Britain's greatest difficulties throughout the last five years had been how to get into contact with the dictators of Europe... who had scrapped the machinery of diplomacy. If, one wanted to get anything by them, it has to be told them directly by a man with a policy. It was hard for a democratic Prime Minister to commit himself in the same way as a man with absolute power.

THE MAIN POINT about these discussions was that there is a real need for Great Britain to push on and bring her defences to a satisfactory point with the least possible delay. This is generally recognized by both the Government and Opposition alike, but another point must be taken into consideration. We refer to the remarks of another Labour member, Mr. D. R. Grenfell, concerning the continued radio propaganda which Germany was spreading and which was designed to create a division between the Czechs and the Slovaks. While Great Britain is doing her utmost to appease the situation, such activities as these and such speeches as Hitler made during his triumphal drive to Carlsbad only have the effect of bringing much good work to naught.

The Commons debate is being watched with keen interest but, in the meantime, it is worth while pointing out that the French Cham-

Hello & Goodbye

BY A.W. HYER

That old harbour of Hongkong has certainly been acting up lately, what with typhoons hanging around our doors. The bay has been practically stripped of ships, the waves swinging those dear Walla-Wallas about all over the place, and would you believe it, just about causing Mr. Moss's pontoons out at Kai Tak, to disintegrate.

Just the same, after floating around the Kowloon piers and up and down the bay we found several ships sitting tight with customers aboard.

MERRILY WE went on Wednesday morning out to this comfortable Dutch boat to find what we could before she tore out of the harbour 10 a.m. She did leave at 2 p.m. for Manila and southern ports.

The very nice Mr. C. Appelboom was aboard with a cold glass of beer tucked in his fist. This oil man, of the Asiatic Petroleum Company, is away on a vacation of six months after four years of labour in Hankow. Down to Ball he goes, transhipping to the m.v. Boesvaine for Africa and arrives home in London in the middle of December.

A few of his thoughts on this Hankow situation, which he expects the Japanese will have in hand by November, paints a true war time picture. Air raids, high cost of food, many commodities which cannot be purchased, and a depression in many small businesses.

We know you will enjoy the travel and change of scenery and hope you will be coming back soon and staying with us in the Colony.

Three weeks of visiting Hongkong has sold Mr. Robert A. Wilson on this land. A round-the-world trip is what this charming San Franciscan is taking, who has just retired from the Reynolds Tobacco Company. The States are in a mess and he is glad to get away for awhile, reported Mr. Wilson with a frown.

We hope all the other ports will be as interesting and that he will call again some day.

Mrs. D. H. McCintock, one of the Dutch ships' fairer passengers, was anxious to be away and join a new husband in Manila. Her reservation, via the Pan American Clipper, had to be cancelled at the last moment (where is that boat?) and her main interest in life, at this point, was home and family.

Hiding beneath a big poke bonnet was the lovely blonde with pretty blue eyes, Miss Elizabeth Halsema, who is en route home to Manila and Baguio after several weeks of fun and frivolity in the Colony.

The art classes of the Brent School in the south claim this lady's winter and spring days—Yes! the attractive lady is a teacher. But there are holidays and we hope during the next one you will again pay us a visit.

Air France

OU-LA-LA! What is a big wind and lots of rain to this Air Line? Well, the Ville de Damas arrived at Kai Tak at 4.20 p.m. on Wednesday with the nice, tall French pilot, Captain F. Faluchier.

Mr. K. Holtz, with a very serious expression, was greeted by colleagues, pilots and friends, as he disembarked from the Air France plane. This gentleman is Managing Director for the Eurasia Aviation Corporation with offices in Hankow and has come at the business of this Company which can't be kept on the ground with the toughest breaks.

Another passenger, via air from London, was Mr. J. J. Heady, of the Methodist Mission Society. After a short visit in the Colony, he will continue to Hankow where he left 18 months ago. There is ber has, by a vote of 535 to 75, passed its confidence in M. Edouard Daladier and his Ministry, those voting against the Government being the Communists and a few scattered elements.—M. Daladier's references to Chamberlain and

VICTORY FOR M. DALADIER

President Roosevelt were greeted with a storm of applause, thus showing that the great majority in the French Parliament heartily approved of his words that "The saving of peace should mark the new rallying point for the energies of the nation."

AS A FURTHER MARK of her sincere desire for peace, France is sending an Ambassador to Rome, who will take over the Embassy there which has been under a Charge d'Affaires since the Italian conquest of Abyssinia.

The world desires peace and seeks peace? Which of those who have made peace will be the first to break it?

much work to be done in the North for the suffering people and this quiet gentleman is most anxious to be on the scene and do his share.

TUESDAY, 2.30 P.M. several hours overdue (but we would not have blamed her for passing this port by) the Nellore arrived from Australia.

Due to the fact that every time we opened our mouth we choked on rain, we had no words with Brigadier-General Sir Walter McNicoll and Lady McNicoll who dashed from the steamer to the Governor's launch and were off to Government House for a visit.

The Administrator of New Guinea and his nice wife are on a trip to Japan, and when they return they plan to spend a longer stay in the Colony. We trust the trip will prove more enjoyable than the stretch from Manila to Hongkong.

Visiting the Colony before going to Canton are the Rev. D. N. McDermid and Miss D. Robertson who arrived on the "Nellore." This is not the first trip to China for these travellers who are returning from leave. Mission work, connected with the Church of Christ, will take all their time and energies during the next two years in the North.

Mr. Fremont Clark arrived on this ship from Manila and will be spending some time with us here in the Colony. But where did he go to? Actually he just dissolved in the rain on Tuesday afternoon.

Imperial Airways

THE TYPHOON weather had them beat and it would no doubt have taken them all the way to London in one hop if they had taken off for Bangkok on Tuesday a.m. We speak of the "Della" and the "Daedalus," Imperial Airways' planes scheduled to leave for Bangkok but not leaving until noon yesterday.

The air mail occupied one plane and the other guided by Captain J. N. Wilson taking two passengers Mr. E. R. De Vos on his way to London and Mr. A. L. Wirth headed for Calcutta.

The Imperial Airways' plane "Delphinus" brought herself into Kai Tak at 5.30 p.m. yesterday with all the mail and no passengers.

The s.s. Chenonceaux which grounded at the harbour entrance on Tuesday morning now reposes in dry-dock and is expected to resume her run to the south in a short while.

Now, don't everyone in the Colony and thereabouts rush for Pier No. 1 to-day. The Empress of Canada is due at 2 p.m. and is a day ahead of schedule.

JAPAN AND SANCTIONS

Counter-Measure Not Disclosed

Tokyo, Oct. 5. Poland is the only member of the League of Nations which has hitherto defined its attitude in regard to sanctions against Japan, declared a Japanese Foreign Office spokesman in reply to a question.

The spokesman refused to disclose the nature of the counter-measure which would be taken against countries applying sanctions. He said that Japan's view on the matter, outlined in his statement on October 3, had not been conveyed to the representatives of Powers in Tokyo but "may be made known by Mr. E. Amau, Japanese Minister in Switzerland, though no report to this effect has been received."

[Mr. Amau was formerly a Japanese Foreign Office spokesman.]

"MOTHER OF GUERRILLAS"

Stirring Talk By Madame Chao

TELLS HISTORY OF MOVEMENT

A very stirring address was given by Madame Chao, known throughout China as "The Mother of the Guerrillas" yesterday at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Caine Road.

In the course of her very interesting address, Mme. Chao expounded the Japanese stating that for over 50 years she had been ill-treated and oppressed by them.

In February, 1932, she gave up all her property to her country and devoted her life to the country by organising volunteers in order to harass the enemy.

Mme. Chao stated that she had at present come to Central China and South China with the view to collecting funds for the purchase of winter clothing and ammunition, also, supplies etc., so that China could carry on her war of attrition.

NEARLY 800,000

Mme. Chao gave the history of the famed guerrillas, saying that from the four who originally began the guerrilla movement, the number had risen to close on 800,000. She went on to say that although the Japanese had occupied parts of China, all was not yet lost.

Mme. Chao appealed to the women of Hongkong to send all possible help they could to the soldiers at the front, who were fighting for the liberty of the Chinese nation.

JAPANESE OCCUPY WUTAIHAN

Peiping, Oct. 5.

Japanese troops occupied Wutaihan, headquarters of the Chinese administration in north-east Shansi, according to a Japanese Army spokesman, who added that Chinese guerrilla activities in north China was directed from Wutaihan for many months. He stated that the Chinese had withdrawn to the north and fighting continues.

It is reported that the famous monastery in Wutaihan escaped damage.—Reuter.

MUNITIONS DEPOT DESTROYED

Loyang, Oct. 5.

During a night raid on the Japanese at Tsinang in northern Honan on Oct. 3, the Chinese set fire to the Japanese munitions depot there and completely destroyed it.

A full now prevails along the Yellow River front in northern Honan. The Japanese who were withdrawn from points on the north bank near the Yellow River Bridge are moving to the east.—Central News.

"MANCHUKUO'S" BUDGET

Changchun, Oct. 5.

"Manchukuo's" budget for the next fiscal year is not to exceed Yen 380,000,000, the Finance Bureau has decided. This means retrenching most "state" expenditures except those for national defence and the five-year industrial programme.

On the recent completion of the draft budget, the bureau notified each department of its share. The retrenchment is due to falling revenue and financial breakdown.—International.

CHINESE AIR FORCE

The patriotic sale movement in Macao is still proceeding. The pork dealers have decided to have another patriotic sale on October 11. The local Relief Committee have been asked to send advisers to this campaign. The recent patriotic sale staged by the hawkers and merchants netted over $10,000.

MORE EXTENSIVE HELP FOR COUNTRY URGED

Mr. Walter Hanming Chen Addresses Merchants

"So long as China remains united we cannot and will not lose this war but, once we show signs of disunity, we show signs of decay and we will not only lose the war but China will be lost for ever," declared Mr. Walter Hanming Chen when, in the course of an address to members of the Chinese Merchants' Club yesterday, he appealed to local Chinese to exert greater effort for their country.

With the approach of the anniversary of the Republic of China, said Mr. Chen, I cannot help thinking of our brave brothers who have sacrificed their lives in the defence of the country which they loved so dearly. I cannot help thinking of the wounded and of the civilians who have either lost their lives or received wounds, of those who have lost their homes and all their worldly belongings, and of the womenfolk who have been humiliated by the barbarians who profess to seek our friendship and our peaceful economic co-operation.

I ask you to stand with me and remain silent for a few minutes as a tribute and a token of respect for those, our brothers and sisters, who have so suffered.

LAST BULLET

We are still continuing the war of liberty and humanity with Japan patiently and unselfishly. We have not been defeated and we will not be defeated. We will continue the war until we have used up our last bullet. Hankow has not yet been lost and it will be some time before the Japanese will be able to take that city: my personal view is that it cannot be taken within the next three months. The Japanese have made little headway during the past two months and they are now entering upon the acid test.

Before them stand mountainous regions which are not easily accessible to their mechanized units, which will prove of little use. The Yangtze River waters are fast falling and, if Japan wants to take Hankow, she must act quickly, otherwise her fleet will be left high and dry, and her gunboats will be useless.

She will undoubtedly make a drive in north Honan with a view to cutting off the Ping-Han Railway and then try to cut down to Hankow in a southerly direction.

On the other hand, Japan has undertaken military action which any sensible General Staff would consider carefully before attempting.

We Chinese people have been accustomed to under-rating the enemy. We had been led to believe that Japan was not in a position to continue a prolonged war. We had been led to understand that Japan could not stand the financial strain and that, if the hostilities continued for a year or so, she would break down and there would be a revolution in the country. We were told that her man power was insufficient, that she could ill afford to send large hordes of troops to China to "beat us to our knees."

I have spoken very frankly, and I fear that I may hurt the feelings of some by my frankness, but this is the time for plain speaking. We cannot afford to say one thing now when we in our hearts mean another.

Whatever may be our faults in the past, let us resolve, for the sake and the honour of our country, to serve her honestly, unselfishly and righteously.

Mr. S. F. Lam presided and at the close of the talk a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker was given by Dr. F. I. Teung.

PRIME MINISTER'S "FIRST MIRACLE"

Policy And Action Ablly Defended ATTACK BY LABOUR

London, October 5.

The Prime Minister was ably defended in both Houses of Parliament during the debate on the international situation yesterday. Referring to Mr. Chamberlain's success in preventing an armed occupation of Czechoslovakia, Dr. E. Leslie Burgin, Minister of Transport, said: "This is the first of the many miracles which the Prime Minister has performed."

All the evidence went to show that on September 14 the decision by Germany to invade Czechoslovakia had already been taken, said Dr. Burgin. He did not believe that anything could have altered Herr Hitler's course if the Prime Minister had not acted as he did.

The German people became aware in increasing numbers that reason had triumphed over force. It was a step forward that the entire speech by the Prime Minister yesterday has already been read and digested by the entire population of Germany.

Mr. Herbert Morrison (Labour), criticised the Government's foreign policy and urged Britain to join other countries in a collective organisation for maintaining the peace of the world, "otherwise we must continue our submissions to blackmail."

The Government, Mr. Morrison said, had increasingly cold-shouldered the League of Nations and been a party to its weakening moral authority.

CZECHS BETRAYED

"The Czechs have been betrayed," said Mr. Morrison, "and this £10,000,000 loan is the most convincing evidence that the Government has felt some dishonour attached to the part it played."

"Czechoslovakia has lost £20,000,000 worth of armaments, including a great 'Maginot' line, while, in effect, we have increased the German Army by 400,000 fully trained men."

Mr. D. R. Grenfell (Labour) brought the attention of the House to the reported continuance of radio propaganda in Germany designed to create a division between the Slovaks and the Czechs and entirely destroy the prospects of establishing the Czechoslovakian state when the final territorial transfers have been effected.

REPRESENTATIONS IN BERLIN

Mr. Grenfell asked if, in view of the Munich Agreement, representations could not be made to Germany to cease this propaganda.

The Prime Minister stated in reply that Lord Halifax had already caused official inquiries to be made by Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador at Berlin, and representations to be made to the German Government of the desirability of restraint in German press and radio broadcasts.

MAIDEN SPEECH

Lord Baldwin, making his maiden speech in the House of Lords, said he knew little of what passed between the Chancelleries of Europe, but he knew enough to know that when the Prime Minister took the decision to go to Berchtesgaden no other man could have done what he did during the discussions in Germany.

"The Premier's performance is one for which his country owes him much," said Lord Baldwin.

"One of our greatest difficulties during the past five years has been how to get into contact with the dictators of Europe. It troubled me, long before I was Prime Minister, since the time they scrapped the machinery of normal diplomacy."

"If you want to get anything by to them it has to be told them directly by a man with a policy."

Lord Baldwin added that it was hard for a democratic Prime Minister to commit himself in the same manner as a man with absolute power. That was the risk which must be taken unless they were willing to ostracise the dictators completely, with results which must be disastrous to the whole world.

After remarking that war was different to-day from what it was up to the last three or four years, Lord Baldwin said "no Prime Minister ought to commit this country to war unless he is convinced that the country is ready."

GUARANTEE IN FORCE

Lord Inskip, answering a question whether the British guarantee to Czechoslovakia is already operating, announced that, though the formal guarantee by treaty is yet to be drawn up and completed and some matters still await settlement between the Governments concerned, and although until that is done technically the guarantee could not be said to be in force, the Government feels under a moral obligation to the Czechs to treat the guarantee as being already in force.

Therefore, in the event of an act of unprovoked aggression against Czechoslovakia, the British Government would certainly feel bound to take all steps in its power to see that the integrity of Czechoslovakia is preserved.

CONFIDENCE VOTE

Mr. Chamberlain announced that the debate on the Government motion of confidence in the action taken at Munich will begin to-day and will continue on Thursday, when the Government will propose that the House adjourn until November 1, with the provision that it will be summoned if necessary.

Mr. Clement Attlee, leader of the Opposition, indicated that the Opposition will oppose the adjournment.

The Labour amendment is believed to advocate a return to collective security and the calling of a world conference to settle outstanding questions.—Reuter.

FAVOURABLE OMEN

London, Oct. 5. The forthcoming vote in the House of Commons is the chief topic discussed by the press here this morning.

The fact that Lord Baldwin unreservedly approved of Mr. Chamberlain's policy in the House of Lords is regarded as a particularly favourable omen for the Prime Minister. The "Daily Telegraph" regards Lord Baldwin's attitude as proof of unanimity of the leading Conservative circles as regards the methods to be adopted for solving problems of foreign policy.

For this reason, the paper reckons with the resignation of certain other Ministers who hold different views. The paper considers the dissolution of Parliament at the present time as highly improbable.—Transocean.

DARING ATTACK ON JAPANESE TROOPS

Tungwan, Oct. 5.

A daring attack was made by a group of 30 Chinese guerrillas on more than 100 Japanese troops at Tatsioutsun in Shansi, whilst they rallied around and were listening to a talk from their commander. Breaking into the village, the small number of guerrillas opened fire on the Japanese. They killed more than 60 of them and captured a Japanese flag and a machine-gun.—Central News.

NEW BATTLESHIP FOR BRITAIN

London, Oct. 5.

The "Daily Express" reports this morning that the keel of the new 40,000-ton battleship will shortly be laid in the well-known shipbuilding works of John Brown in the Clyde Bank. Orders for necessary materials have, according to the paper, already been placed. Construction of the new battleship will afford work to upwards of 3,000 men for about three years.—Transocean.

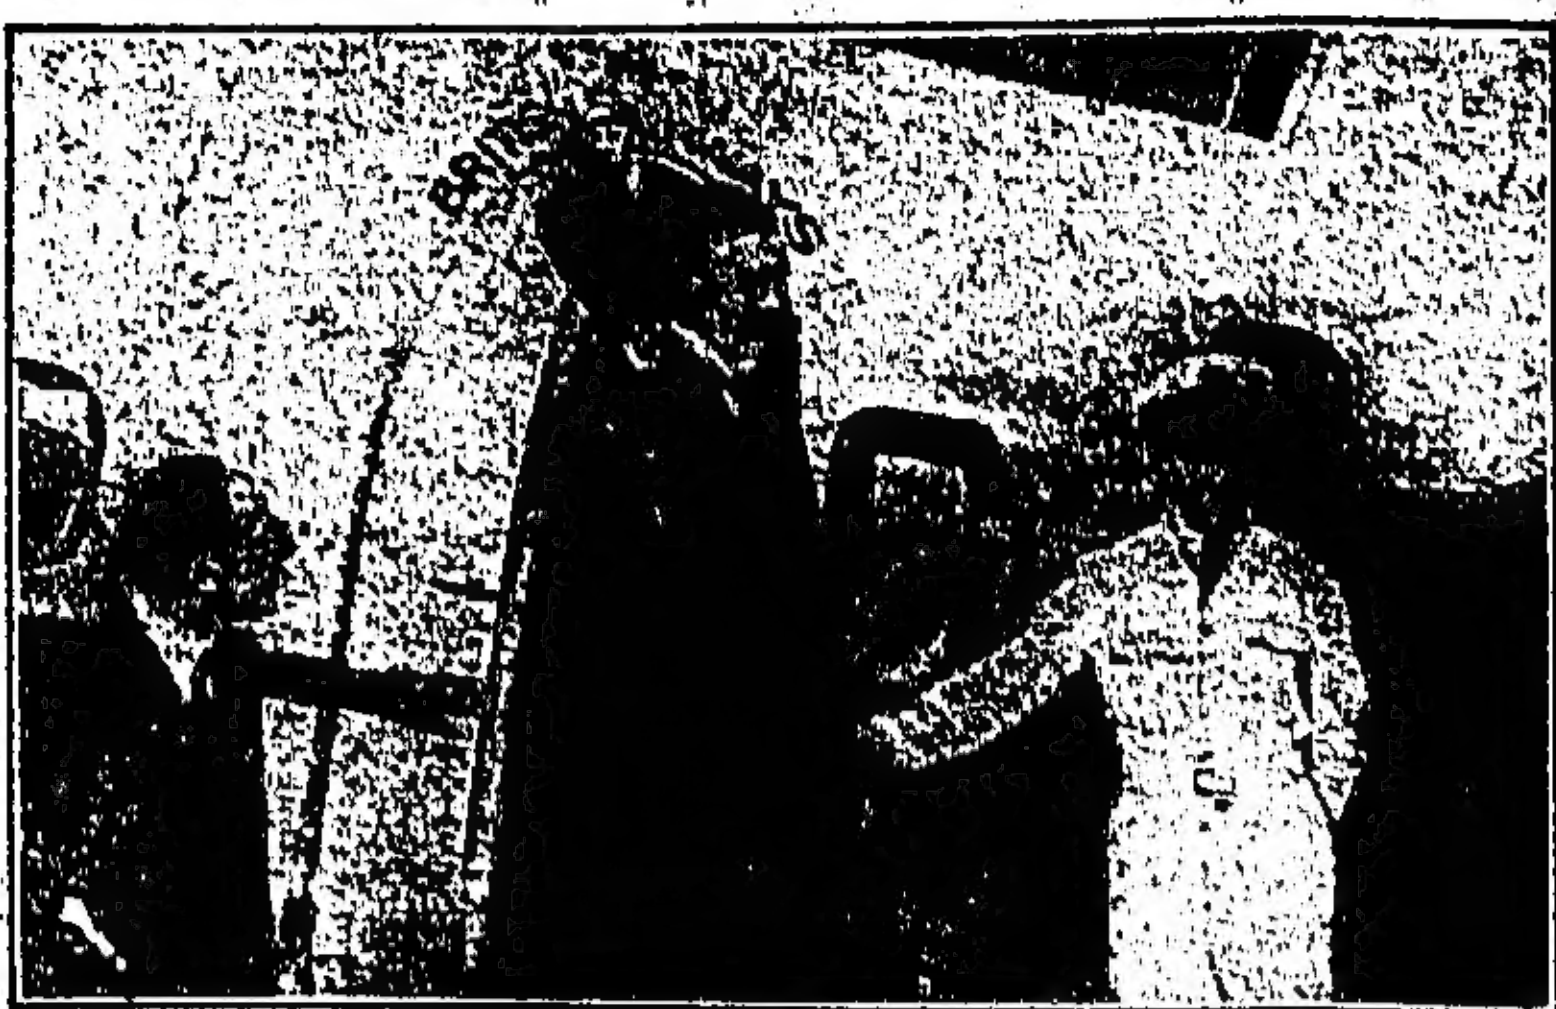

MRS. HALDANE ENTERTAINED

Hankow, Oct. 5.

Mrs. Charlotte Haldane, who represents the Comité Mondial des Femmes contre la Guerre et le Fascisme in France and England, was entertained at tea by the International Publicity Bureau yesterday.

In the course of a speech, Mrs. Haldane promised that she will do her utmost in anti-aggression work when she returns to England.—Central News.

'Mind Like A Jelly' Made Him A Genius

Until Mr. A. L. Rowse lectured at Stratford-on-Avon recently the only person who had had much to say about Shakespeare's politics was Mr. Bernard Shaw.

Mr. Shaw makes him a sort of Fabian Socialist; Mr. Rowse says that he was not only what we should call a Conservative, but a snob to boot, writes a Home correspondent.

As Mr. Shaw has latterly turned Fascist, the opposition between the two views is perhaps not so sharp as might appear.

Shakespeare, if the man who lived at New Place was the author of the plays, must have been something of a snob to prefer settling down at a comparatively early age as the local bigwig instead of producing a decent edition of his collected works.

It really looks as though he was a bit ashamed of being a writing man.

To call him a Conservative is, of course, misleading. The word these days implies a definite belief in democratic institutions, and Shakespeare took very little stock of any political institutions except that of monarchy.

In the political sense he was definitely anti-democratic. He was hold the mirror up to nature; but if a glass had a mind and views of its own it would change and distort, not truthfully reflect.

In his politics Shakespeare faithfully reflected his times, and allowed no political theory or view of his own to distort the truthfulness of the reflection.

England had just attained national unity; it had vanquished its foreign enemies and crushed the faction spirit at home. The real hero of the historical plays, as Mr. Rowse observes, is England herself.

It was not an age of theory, but of life.

Democracy in something like the modern sense had lifted its head in the Wat Tyler and other risings, but it now lay prostrate under Tudor absolutism.

The politics of Shakespeare were a mere reflection of his times and surroundings, like those of the comfortable middle-class bourgeoisie in any London suburb.

COMMONPLACE POLITICIAN, BUT—

What made him commonplace as a politician also made him the greatest dramatist of all time.

Human genius is of two kinds. It may start with a theory of life or of faith, and set itself to change the world in accordance with it. Or it may reflect perfectly and with a vividness that lasts throughout time human life as it sees it without any attempt at alteration.

To the first class belong the philosophers, the preachers, the statesmen; the second is the essence of dramatic genius.

If Shakespeare's glass held up to life had been less faithful, had he been a man of independent or original ideas he would not have been the dramatist that he is.

Because his mind was, as I suspect, a jelly that would fall into any mould he was the miracle that we know as Shakespeare.

And in saying that I do not forget that he was one of the world's greatest poets, and in sheer copiousness and fertility of speech excelled any one before or since.

SPECULATION ON APPOINTMENTS

Paris, Oct. 5.

The name of the French Ambassador in Berlin, M. Francois Poncet, is mentioned in political circles here in connection with the forthcoming appointment of an Ambassador to Rome. Should M. Francois Poncet be appointed to Rome it is believed he would be succeeded in Berlin by the present Ambassador in Warsaw, M. Noel, who in his turn, would be replaced by the former Minister in Vienna, M. Puaux.

For the time being, however, these are only speculations. It is considered certain that as soon as the French Ambassador has been appointed to Rome, the Italian Government will appoint an Ambassador to Paris. The names of the Under-Secretary of State in the Italian Foreign Office, Signor Dastanini, and the Ambassador in Buenos Aires, Signor Guariglia, and of the Ambassador in Washington, Signor Russo, are mentioned in this connection.—Transocean.

SASSOON DENIAL

Tokyo, Oct. 5.

A letter appeared in to-day's "Japan Advertiser" from Messrs. E. D. Sassoon & Co., Shanghai, flatly denying the Japanese report that the Sassoon Banking Company, Shanghai, are making efforts to "establish a pseudo Japanese regime in Canton with the object of protecting their interests in China."

The report was quoted by the "Japan Advertiser" on September 20.—Reuter.

never anything but contemptuous of the crowd, its credulity, and its stupidity.

But neither was he a Fascist, for little as he believed in democratic institutions, no one had such understanding of the individual and of the motives that influence him, and there is no understanding without sympathy and love.

He may have hated and despised the crowd, but he certainly sympathised with the individuals in it, or he could never have given us the Fool in "King Lear" or the gravedigger in "Hamlet."

SHAKESPEARE'S POLITICS

But all these attempts to attach a political label to Shakespeare are misleading and are not worth making.

I do not suppose that he ever did any political thinking worth speaking of. His glory was "to

Tokyo, Oct. 5.

Japan will maintain mandatory rights in the southern Pacific despite probable severance of all relations with the League of Nations, a Japanese Foreign Office spokesman stated to-day.

MANY JAPANESE CAPTURED

Macheng, Hupeh, Oct. 5.

Chinese troops have effectively counter-attacked Japanese reinforcements arriving at Tapachal and Yuchiat, ten miles south of Shanghai from west Anhwei, to assist in the southward drive into Hupeh during the last two days.

Unable to withstand the Chinese assaults, the Japanese retired northward, allegedly firing a large number of poison gas shells to cover their retreat.

In addition to heavy casualties inflicted, the Chinese claim to have captured about 200 Japanese.—Central News.

LADIES GIVE SOFTBALL SEASON SEND-OFF

Local Pretties Cross-Bats In Exhibition Game

(BY R. O. Y.)

DESPITE INTERMITTENT RAIN, the local softball season got under way last Sunday when two ladies teams, the Overseas Wildcats and Central British Association Ladies, played an exhibition game of four innings as a curtain raiser to the League games. Three games were played and resulted in the Midgits beating the Trojans by 11 runs to 2, the 2nd. Machine gun Coy. had the better of St. Joseph's College by 10 runs to 1, and the Canadian Chinese managed to scrape home against the Hongkong Baseball Club, by the odd run in 17.

The ladies in the short time they were on the field, gave a promising display; the C.B.A. Ladies requested the services of Bill Smith, Brown and another mere male, who I have since learnt was Brown's son, to complete their nine and did very well to hold the "Wildcats" to a two run margin; the final score was 9 runs to 7.

For the Chinese team, the four Mar Sisters were outstanding; much to the surprise of the spectators, the youngest Mar, a midget of about 4 feet and weighing at most 60 pounds, was responsible for the longest hit of the game. It was a line drive over the centre-fielder's head that was good for two bases. Toni Scott pitched very good ball for the C. B. A. and others who caught the eye were Mrs. Brown, at the initial bag, Margaret McAlpine at the Key-stone sack and Marie Smith at the Windy Alley.

SCHOOLBOYS GOOD

The Midgits, composed of students of the Diocesan Boys' School, should, on their showing against the Trojans, prove to be one of the strongest teams in the competition.

SEVENTH EXTRA RACE MEETING

90,000 Cheer Injured Speed Victor

Ninety thousand people at Wembley Speedway recently, frantic with excitement, watched Blney Wilkinson, the red-haired young Australian speedway star, win the world championship.

Among the crowd was Blney's young wife, tense not merely with excitement but anxiety. For she alone among the vast crowd knew that at any moment he might collapse.

WIFE WATCHED, WORRIED
Racing at New Cross Blney broadsided, and his machine fell on him, knocking him unconscious, and severely bruising his shoulder.

Twice he fainted as his friend, Len Stewart, was driving him home, but he insisted on competing, although he had to ride with his shoulder strapped.

For two hours last night his wife stood in the cold drizzle at Wembley, watching, worrying. Mrs. Wilkinson was one of Blney's first friends when he came to England, almost down and out, nine years ago.

She was the daughter of a man who befriended him.

BEAT HIS PAL
Last year it seemed as though

POPE BROTHERS BOTH HURT

Walter Hammond reached his 3,000th run of the season for the second year in succession when he had scored 53 in the second innings of the England Fast and Present match at Folkestone.

He probably would have equalled Hobbs's record of 16 centuries in a season if an accident to George Pope had not unsettled him.

HAMMOND drove a ball from George Pope straight down the pitch. Pope shot out his hand to try for an impossible catch. The ball flew from his fingers and crashed against the pavilion fence.

Pope almost fainted with pain. He came off the field, and Ames rushed him by car to hospital. An X-ray revealed that Pope's finger was dislocated as well as badly split.

Hammond and the other players out in the middle were so upset by the incident that the game was immediately adjourned and the tea interval taken before the proper time. Hammond seemed to lose heart for batting after that.

INVITED NEXT YEAR

There was an amusing moment of relief when Hammond made another titanic drive along the grass past mid-off where Alfred Pope stood and allowed the ball to go crashing to the boundary without attempting to stop it.

But the Pope instinct got the better of him later and he, too, damaged his hand when he tried to stop another Hammond drive and his return throw was done left handed.

The Pope brothers have done so well that a wit has re-christened the Folkestone Festival the Pope-tone Festival. Between them they have figured in 21 dismissals of opponents out of 38, and they have bowled 176 overs.

It was a splendid catch in the deep by Alfred Pope that put an end to Frank Woolley's innings just when the crowd had begun to hope that the peerless left-hander would crown his final innings at the Folkestone Festival with a century.

her highest hopes for him were to be realised.

He won every race in the World Championship finals, but owing to a shortage of bonus points, missed the title.

With biggest speedway crowd in the world watching, Blney beat his pal and roared to victory.

His wife ran proudly to greet him. "I just knew he could do it," she said.

WICKET KEEPING EXTRAORDINARY

In the match between Malden Wanderers II and Hounslow II, at Hounslow, which the Wanderers won by 183 to 122, P. London, of the Wanderers, accomplished the extraordinary feat of stumping seven batsmen in the innings.

Actually he was credited with an eighth stumping but he sportingly pointed out that the batsman had edged the ball and he was consequently given "run out." So far as one can trace wicket-keeping feats, this record has only been beaten on one occasion.

In 1930, while playing in a house match at Repton, H. W. P. Middleton caught one and stumped eight in an innings. In first-class cricket, no player has ever taken more than seven wickets in an innings, including catches and stumpings.

Fathers And Daughters Golf Tournament

Lieut-General Sir Geoffrey Howard (Royal St. George's) and Miss C. Howard (Hayling Island) won the annual mixed, foursomes tournament for father and daughter partnerships recently on the West Sussex course, Pulborough.

In the final they defeated the backmarkers, A. Raworth and Miss M. Raworth (St. George's Hill), by four up and three to play.

The surprisingly easy victory over a pair who had overwhelmed most of the opposition, they had met was largely due to the splendid golf played by Miss Howard.

Both she and Miss Raworth have lower handicaps than their fathers and have each played in county golf. The general contributed his full share to winning the first three holes of the final. That brilliant start virtually settled the match for Raworth and his daughter never drew level.

GRAND SHOT

They reduced their deficit to one hole, but the Howards won the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth, the latter with a brilliant brassie shot by Miss Howard, and the general settled it with a grand iron shot close to the pin at the short fifteenth. The defeat of the Raworth

PROMISING PLAYERS SEEN

CLUB RUGBY TRIAL

Chadwick Scores Fine Try

The Club rugby section may look forward to a season of progress this year, there being many promising players among the "new blood."

Once again we will see Chadwick and Wilson, whose absence last season was felt in the Triangular Tournament. The former, who recently returned from Canton, showed up well at the practice game held on the Club ground, Happy Valley, yesterday. Playing on the wing he used his speed to much advantage.

Wilson, whose injury in 1938 kept him out of the game, made a welcome return yesterday.

Harold Bidwell, the Interporter, led his side to victory.

Many new faces were seen.

W. E. Grieve, whose ability on the rugby field in Shanghai is well-known, was rather unsteady in his handling, but it is hoped that he will overcome this in the opening game against the Army on Saturday, October 15.

Of the regular team, Cessford, MacGrath and Henderson played well.

The game opened with the Colours kicking off. Their strong pack brought the ball within the 25-yard line, but one of the opposing side picked up the ball from the scrum. Bidwell took the penalty kick and dropped a fine goal.

In failing light end to end play ensued and no further score was registered in the first half.

In the second half, Cessford's partnership with Grieve resulted in a try for Buiton.

The Colours passed the ball along the line and Wilson got possession, and evading MacGrath scored.

The last try was the best of the match. Chadwick received a pass from Bidwell and ran for some 50 yards before he placed the ball between the posts.

The teams were:
WHITE:—MacGrath; Munro; Grieve, Heath, and D. Hynes; Wilson (Cessford); Rutherford; Dunn; Mairs, Stark, Redman, Taylor and Andrews.

COLOURS:—Brown; D. B. Nelson, Cessford (Wilson), Bidwell, Chadwick; Butcher, Henderson, Watson; Stout, Burton, Johnson and Richardson.

JAPAN'S RAYON TRADE NOT BRIGHT

Exports In August Unsatisfactory

Shanghai, Oct. 5.

Japan's export trade in rayon yarn and textiles for August, the first month of operation of the pulp-rayon "link" system, was not satisfactory, according to reports from Tokyo.

Exports of yarn were only 13,500 boxes, 29,000 boxes lower than in the month before, according to the Rayon Association of Japan. Out of this, the amount of exports to be linked to imports of pulp totalled only 1,700 boxes.

Rayon manufacturing companies are trying hard to increase their exports, but the Japanese product is not now in a position to compete with Italian rayon in foreign countries due to Italian dumping.

Exports of rayon textiles were also not satisfactory. The amount sent to the yen-bloc amounted to 15,880,000 square yards, increasing 1,287,000 square yards.

Imports of pulp for August were only 5,700,000 pounds, in striking contrast to 56,000,000 pounds for the same period of last year—International.

CONSTRUCTION OF PALACE OF SOVIETSStatue Of Lenin To
Grace Building

The gigantic statue of Lenin, which is to top the Palace of the Soviets, at present under construction, will weigh 5,000 tons and will be twice as high as the Statue of Liberty in New York.
Moscow newspapers reveal.

On cloudy days the top of the statue will be hidden from view.
Interesting details have been revealed with regard to the construction of the statue.

It appears that it will be composed of a steel frame, covered with sheets of metal alloy whose basic component will be steel, and which will be able to withstand the effect of time and the elements.

Lifts will ascend to the legs and body of the statue and fine electric wires will be located in the metal sheaths covering the body in order to warm the entire structure as soon as the temperature drops to a point where it affects the construction.

The body of the statue will also be equipped with a system of lightning-conductors in order to protect the statue and the palace.

dispute was extremely well received.

CZECH OFFICERS ATTACKED

Robbed Of Arms, Taken To Town

Prague, Oct. 5. An official report states that Czechoslovakia liaison officers upon arrival at Eger were attacked by a band of 50 armed persons in civilian clothing and robbed of the arms belonging to them.

The officers were taken into town and only after Herr Hitler's departure were they brought to the police station here.

Some of their kit was restored but finally two German generals arrived and ordered to rest of the belongings to be given to them.

Sales of clothing, food and household utensils is booming in the Sudeten regions where the inhabitants are taking advantage of the lower prices.

The Czechs who fled from Sudetenland and who are being urged by the Czechoslovak authorities to return cannot do so without special passes from the Gestapo which are granted only in exceptional cases.—Reuter.

JEWES WARNED TO LEAVE

German Officials Not Aware Of Order

Vienna, Oct. 5. Warnings to Jews in various parts of Vienna to leave Germany within 24 hours were stated early this morning by a Nazi spokesman to have been issued without special order of the authorities.

Yesterday evening secret service men went from house to house and warned the Jews to leave because of the "provocative attitude during the past war crisis."

The action caused intense excitement among the Jews but the Gestapo now declare that they knew nothing about the matter.—Reuter.

M. DALADIER EXPLAINS

New Friendships Added To Old

Paris, Oct. 5. Greeted with the cheers and handclapping of all the 500 deputies present, except the Communists, the Premier, M. Edouard Daladier, yesterday gave a crowded Chamber his explanation of the Munich Agreement.

The Premier defined the position of the Government throughout the crisis as being "animated by two equally strong sentiments—a desire not to be compelled to military action and a wish never to go back on our word if by misfortune this hope was disappointed."

Certainly the Munich agreement had reduced Czech territory, but the Republic could carry on an independent life and "we will help her," he said.

After expressing his lively gratitude of the manner in which the Czech people had accepted the painful sacrifice imposed upon them, M. Daladier continued: "Our negotiations succeeded because we backed our arguments with affirmation of our strength. The resolute attitude taken by France made success possible."

He felt there was esteem in Germany for France, and this was on account of the settlement arrived at at Munich.

CHAMBERLAIN AND ROOSEVELT M. Daladier's references to Mr. Chamberlain and President Roosevelt were greeted with a storm of applause.

After discussing the wider issues of the future, the Premier said that if he recalled the sentiments the French people had towards Germany, that did not mean they contemplated renouncing existing collaborations.

It was not substituting new friendships for old, but "in the interests of peace we want to add the help of new friendships to those of the old and tried friendships."

For this task he knew they could count on the friendship between France and Britain.

The saving of peace should mark a new rallying point for the energies of the nation.

NEW SITUATION It was possible that at Munich the world had changed its face, in the space of a few hours, and France must answer the new situation by assuming a new sentiment towards its duties.

"All Frenchmen who desire the salvation of France must now consider themselves in a state of permanent mobilisation for the service of peace"—Reuter.

A state of emergency in the western districts of Shanghai has once more been declared following the discovery of posters denouncing Chinese traitors, which were presumably put up by Chinese guerrillas according to a Shanghai message, says Central News.

NO SUCCESSOR TO FOREIGN MINISTER

Japanese Envoys Decline Offer

MR. HORINOUCHE'S APPOINTMENT

Tokyo, Oct. 5. Efforts of the Premier, Prince Kono, to find a successor for the Foreign Minister, General Ugaki, have so far had no success. The Ambassador in Moscow, Mr. Shigemitsu, and the Ambassador in Washington, Mr. Satō, have, it is stated, both declined the offer to take over the Ministry.

The former Foreign Minister, Mr. Arita, who acted as adviser to General Ugaki during the latter's term of office has also expressed unwillingness to re-assume charge of the Foreign Ministry.

Political circles believe that the refusal of the personages in question is motivated by their dissatisfaction with the recent creation of the "China Bureau" which deprives the Foreign Ministry of a considerable part of its influence on Japanese foreign policy.

Prince Kono, who has decided, with the assent of the Ministers of War, Marine and Interior, to continue to conduct foreign affairs for the time being.

The Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Horinouchi, will be appointed Ambassador in Washington in succession to Mr. Satō who will resign for reasons of health, according to an announcement made to-day by the semi-official News Agency which adds that Mr. Horinouchi will be replaced at the Foreign Office by the diplomatic adviser in Peking, Mr. Sawada.—Transocean.

MORE RESIGNATIONS

Tokyo, Oct. 5. Two more resignations of prominent members of the Japanese diplomatic service are announced in addition to those previously reported. The semi-official News Agency states this afternoon that two advisers to the Foreign Office, Mr. Hachiro Arita and Mr. Shobu Gato, have tendered their resignations to the Premier, Prince Kono, who accepted them.—Transocean.

COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT

Between Norway And Spain

Oslo, Oct. 5. It is officially announced that the Norwegian Government has concluded an agreement with the Spanish Nationalist Government under the terms of which each Government will appoint commercial agents in the other's country.

An official communique issued by the Norwegian Foreign Office states that the Norwegian Government has taken this step because General Franco rules the greater part of Spain and it has become increasingly urgent to safeguard Norwegian commercial interests there.

The communique adds that the agreement does not imply either de facto or de jure recognition of the Burgo Government by Norway.—Transocean.

TOKYO-PEIPING AIR SERVICE

Tokyo, Oct. 5. Regular air services between Tokyo and Peiping and between Fukuoka and Nanking will be operated by the Japan Air Transport Company, according to an announcement made by the Ministry of Communications here. Both services will begin to-day. The journey from Tokyo to Peiping will take ten hours and that from Fukuoka to Nanking five hours and ten minutes.—Transocean.

GALE STILL IN EVIDENCE

London, Oct. 5. A great gale which has been blowing for the past two days in the south-east of England was still in evidence last night, though it was calm but gloomy and cold in London this morning.

Reports of death as a result of the gale are still coming in. The weather is so bad that Imperial Airways service to the continent will be delayed.—Reuter Bulletin.
